Lisa Di Campli had her own glass studio, Di Campli Glas Studio in Den Haag, Netherlands, where she specializes in glass painting for both new and restoration work. Her works can be seen in shows in the area of The Hague. Prior to beginning her studio, she studied glass techniques in Montreal and Brussels, and worked at various glass studios refining her glazier skills and teaching glass painting.

Peter Heijman was a second-generation glazier and the owner of Glasatelier Oud Rijswijk, located in the Netherlands. As the owner of one of the premier glass studios in the Netherlands, his focus was on both creating new panels and the restoration of nationally recognized and museum-quality stained glass, many of which incorporate glass painting. Peter is a past-president of the Dutch Glazier Association (OVG). Peter has retired yet is still available for consulting.
